Contents

List of contributors page vii
Foreword P. J. Ucko ix
Preface David Austin & Leslie Alcock xix
Introduction David Austin & Leslie Alcock 1

OBJECTIVES OF MEDIEVAL ARCHAEOLOGY

1 The 'proper study' of medieval archaeology David Austin 9

Introduction 9
Medieval archaeology and documentary history 11
European cultural dominance, ethnicity and medieval archaeology 14
The English village – an item on the historical agenda 19
Working to the historical agenda 24
A revised philosophy? 29
Prehistory and theory 29
Elements of a shared practice of history 35

2 The 'proper study' of medieval archaeology: a case study David Austin & Julian Thomas 43

Introduction 43
Material culture and signification 44
Archaeology and history 47
Time and space as a framework for analysis 51
The case study 53
Interpreting the buildings 54
Interpreting the farmyard 61
Interpreting the land 64
Interpreting the landscape 69
A place of presence 74
Conclusion 76

3 Medieval archaeology and the tyranny of the historical record Timothy C. Champion 79

The concept of Europe 79
The boundaries of Europe 81
The cultural definition of Europe 82
The discourse of history 85
The origins of Europe 86
CONTENTS

4 A comparative study of Czech and British medieval rural settlement archaeology: towards whole landscapes Martin Gojda 96

Introduction 96
The study of settlement history in Czechoslovakia 97
Czech and British research on medieval rural settlement 103

EARLY STATE AND ETHNIC FORMATIONS

5 Byzantium and the Avars: the archaeology of the first 70 years of the Avar era Istvan Bóna 113

Introduction 113
The Avars and the indigenous production of gold jewellery 113
Avar jewellery types 115
Conclusion – Avar and Byzantine status 117

6 Connections between Scandinavia and the East Roman Empire in the Migration period Birgit Arrhenius 118

Introduction 118
Eastern connections as opposed to connections with the late Roman Empire 118
Direct contacts between Scandinavia and the late Roman Empire? 119
The status of the source material 119
Byzantine jewellery found in Scandinavia 123
The Kolben armlets 129
Glass vessels 134
Imports and connections between Byzantium and Scandinavia 134

7 New research on finds of Avar chieftain-burials at Igar, Hungary Gyula Fülöp 138

Introduction 138
The cemetery 141
Analysis of the grave goods 141
Conclusion – Avar migration 145

8 Early medieval hillforts in Polish lands in the 6th to the 8th centuries: problems of origins, function, and spatial organization Zbigniew Kobyliński 147

Introduction 147
Hillfort size 148
CONTENTS

Internal structures 150
Excavations at Hacki 151
Organization of the community 152
Hillforts in the settlement system 153
Origins 154

9 What does coinage tell us about Scandinavian society in the late Viking Age? Brita Malmer 157

Introduction 157
Foreign coins found in Scandinavia 157
Native Scandinavian coinage 160
Conclusion 166

10 Interactions between indigenous and western cultures in Livonia in the 13th to 16th centuries
   É. Mugurēvičs 168

Introduction 168
Architectural indications of cultural conflict 168
Artefacts and cultural conflict 171
Cult and cultural conflict 175
Conclusion 177

POPULATION

11 Height variation in the light of social and regional differences in medieval Denmark
   Jesper L. Boldsen 181

Introduction 181
Background 181
Results 183
Discussion 185
Conclusion 187

12 Merovingian skull deformations in the southwest of France
   Eric Crubezy 189

Introduction 189
Discoveries and archaeological contexts 189
Conclusion 205

13 The palaeodemography of medieval populations in Czechoslovakia
   Milan Stloukal 209

Introduction 209
Procedural problems in palaeodemographic analysis 209
Missing infant burials – the Czech evidence 211
Explaining the lack of infant burial

RURAL SETTLEMENT

14 The lower Vltava basin: an attempt at a regional approach to the settlement history of the early Middle Ages
   Martin Gojda
   Introduction
   The lower Vltava basin
   Conclusion

15 Rural settlements in the 9th and 10th centuries in the Danube valley in Serbia
   Gordana Marjanovic-Vujovic
   Serbian settlement
   Pontes (Kostol)
   Conclusion

URBAN DEVELOPMENT

16 Origins and development of Slavic and German Lübeck
   Günter P. Fehring
   Introduction
   Liubice, Old (Alt) Lübeck (9th–11th centuries)
   The Lübeck city hill, Bucu, in the late Slav period of the 11th and 12th centuries
   The links between Old Lübeck and the city hill, Bucu (12th century)
   German Lübeck
   Conclusion

17 Research in Prague — an historical and archaeological view of the development of Prague from the 9th century to the middle of the 14th century
   Vaclav Huml
   Introduction
   Origins and early development of settlement foci (6th–11th centuries)
   12th-century expansion
   13th-century developments
   The peripheral settlements
   Prague in the 14th century

18 Archaeological evidence for the development and urbanization of Kiev from the 8th to the 14th centuries
   Oleg M. Ioannisyan
   Introduction
CONTENTS

Origins 285
A central place in the state formation of Rus (8th–10th centuries) 287
Vladimir’s City – Gorod Vladimira (10th–11th centuries) 288
Yaroslav’s City – Gorod Yaroslava (11th century) 294
Izyaslav-Svyatopolk’s City – Gorod Izyaslava-Svyatopolka (11th–12th centuries) 299
Kopyrev Konets (12th–13th centuries) 300
Podol (late 9th–13th centuries) and other suburbs (11th–13th centuries) 300
The satellite settlements and establishments (11th–13th centuries) 303
Outlying defences (10th–13th centuries) 305
12th- and 13th-century developments 306
The impact of the Tartar invasion of 1240 307
The later Middle Ages and beyond 309

Index 313