About the Authors	xxvii

CHAPTER 1 • Science, Society, and Research Related to Criminal Justice and Criminology	1
What Do We Have in Mind?	1
▀ Case Study: Why Do Kids Kill?	2
Reasoning About the Social World	3
Questions and Answers	3
Avoiding Errors in Reasoning	3
How the Scientific Approach Is Different	6
Science Versus Pseudoscience	6
Criminal Justice and Criminological Research in Action	7
Descriptive Research	7
▀ Case Study: Description—How Prevalent Is Youth Violence?	8
Exploratory Research	9
▀ Case Study: Exploration—How Did Schools Avert a Shooting Rampage?	9
Explanatory Research	10
▀ Case Study: Explanation—What Factors Are Related to Youth Delinquency and Violence?	10
Evaluation Research	11
▀ Case Study: Evaluation—Do Violence Prevention Programs in Schools Work?	11
Alternative Research Orientations	12
▀ Research in the News: Keeping Count of School Shootings	13
Quantitative and Qualitative Methods	14
Highlighting a Few Specific Types of Research Methods	15
Strengths and Limitations of Social Research	16
▀ Careers and Research	17
A Comment on Research in a Diverse Society	18
Conclusion	19
Key Terms	19
Highlights	19
Exercises	20
Discussing Research	20
Finding Research on the Web	20
Critiquing Research	21
Making Research Ethical	21
Developing a Research Proposal	21
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	21

CHAPTER 2 • The Process and Problems of Research Related to Crime and Criminology	23
What Do We Have in Mind?	23
Identifying a Research Question	25
Where to Start?	25
Refining Research Questions	26
Evaluating Research Questions	26
The Role of Theory	27
Social Research Strategies	29
The Research Circle	30
▶ Case Study: A History of Investigating the Effects of Arrest for Intimate Partner Violence and the Research Circle	32
▶ Case Study: Police Decision Making	35
▶ Research in the News: Number of Reported Rapes Climbs in New York City	36
Research Standards	36
Measurement Validity	37
Generalizability	38
Causal Validity	38
Authenticity	39
▶ Careers and Research	39
Conclusion	40
Key Terms	40
Highlights	40
Exercises	41
Discussing Research	41
Finding Research on the Web	41
Critiquing Research	42
Making Research Ethical	42
Developing a Research Proposal	42
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	42
CHAPTER 3 • Ethical Guidelines for Research	44
What Do We Have in Mind?	44
Would You Pretend to Be a Prisoner?	44
Historical Background	48
▶ Research in the News: Some Social Scientists Are Tired of Asking for Permission	49
Ethical Principles	50
Achieving Valid Results	50
Honesty and Openness	51
Protecting Research Participants	52
Avoid Harming Research Participants	53
Obtain Informed Consent	55
Avoid Deception in Research, Except in Limited Circumstances	58
Maintain Privacy and Confidentiality	58
Benefits of Research Should Outweigh Risks	59

More on the Institutional Review Board (IRB)	61
Research Involving Special Populations: Children and Prisoners	61
▪ Case Studies: Sexual Solicitation of Adolescents and Milgram Revisited	64
▪ Careers and Research	65
Conclusion	65
Key Terms	66
Highlights	66
Exercises	67
Discussing Research	67
Finding Research on the Web	67
Critiquing Research	67
Making Research Ethical	67
Developing a Research Proposal	67
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	68

CHAPTER 4 • Conceptualization and Measurement 69

What Do We Have in Mind?	69
Concepts	70
Conceptualization in Practice: Defining Youth Gangs	70
From Concepts to Variables: Measurement Operations	71
How Will We Know When We've Found It?	71
Using Available Data	72
Constructing Questions	73
Making Observations	74
Collecting Data Through Unobtrusive Measures	74
Combining Measurement Operations	75
▪ Case Study: Defining Inmate Misconduct	75
How Much Information Do We Really Have?	76
Nominal Level of Measurement	76
Ordinal Level of Measurement	77
Interval Level of Measurement	79
Ratio Level of Measurement	80
The Case of Dichotomies	80
Comparison of Levels of Measurement	80
▪ Research in the News: Are Teenagers Replacing Drugs With Smartphones?	82
Did We Measure What We Wanted to Measure?	82
Measurement Validity	82
Measurement Reliability	84
Can We Achieve Both Reliability and Validity?	86
▪ Careers and Research	87
A Comment on Measurement in a Diverse Society	88
Conclusion	88
Key Terms	89
Highlights	89
Exercises	90

Discussing Research	90
Finding Research on the Web	90
Critiquing Research	90
Making Research Ethical	91
Developing a Research Proposal	91
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	91

CHAPTER 5 • Sampling 93

What Do We Have in Mind?	93
Sample Planning	93
Define Sample Components and the Population	94
Evaluate Generalizability	95
Assess Population Diversity	97
Consider a Census	98
Sampling Methods	98
Probability Sampling Methods	100
Nonprobability Sampling Methods	106
Lessons About Sample Quality	110
Generalizability in Qualitative Research	111
Units of Analysis and Errors in Causal Reasoning	111
Research in the News: What Are Best Practices for Sampling Vulnerable Populations?	112
Individual and Group Units of Analysis	112
The Ecological Fallacy and Reductionism	113
Careers and Research	114
Conclusion	114
Key Terms	115
Highlights	115
Exercises	116
Discussing Research	116
Finding Research on the Web	116
Critiquing Research	116
Making Research Ethical	117
Developing a Research Proposal	117
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	117

CHAPTER 6 • Causation and Experimentation 119

What Do We Mean by Causation?	119
Causal Explanations	120
Quantitative (Nomothetic) Causal Explanation	120
Qualitative (Idiographic) Causal Explanation	121
Criteria for Nomothetic Causal Explanations	122
Case Study: Media Violence and Violent Behavior	123
Association	123
Time Order	123
Nonspuriousness	124
Mechanism	125
Context	126
Why Experiment?	126

True Experiments	127
▶ Case Study: An Experiment in Action: Prison Classification and Inmate Behavior	129
▶ Case Study: Field Experiments in Action: Determining the Effect of Incarceration on Employment	130
What If a True Experiment Isn't Possible?	132
Nonequivalent Control Group Designs	132
▶ Case Study: Parole Community Resource Centers and Recidivism	133
Before-and-After Designs	134
▶ Case Study: The Effects of the Youth Criminal Justice Act	134
Ex Post Facto Control Group Designs	135
▶ Case Study: Does an Arrest Increase Delinquency?	136
What Are the Threats to Internal Validity and Generalizability in Experiments?	136
Causal (Internal) Validity	137
Interaction of Testing and Treatment	140
Generalizability	140
The Element of Time in Research	141
▶ Case Study: Cross-Sectional Research Using Life Calendars—Do Offenders Specialize in Different Crimes?	141
▶ Research in the News: Do Video Games Lead to Mass Shootings?	142
Repeated Cross-Sectional Designs	143
Fixed-Sample Panel Designs	144
Event-Based Designs	145
Causality in Nonexperimental Designs	145
How Do Experimenters Protect Their Subjects?	146
Deception	147
Selective Distribution of Benefits	147
▶ Careers and Research	148
Conclusion	148
Key Terms	149
Highlights	149
Exercises	150
Discussing Research	150
Finding Research on the Web	150
Critiquing Research	150
Making Research Ethical	151
Developing a Research Proposal	151
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	151

CHAPTER 7 • Survey Research 153

Survey Research in Action: Measuring Victimization	153
What Is a Survey?	154
Attractive Features of Survey Research	154
The Omnibus Survey	155
Questionnaire Development and Assessment	155

Maintain Focus	156
Build on Existing Instruments	156
Consider Translation	156
▀ Case Study: Measuring Violent Victimizations	156
Writing Survey Questions: More Difficult Than You Think!	159
Constructing Clear and Meaningful Questions	160
Additional Guidelines for Closed-Ended Questions	162
Combining Questions Into an Index	164
Don't Forget to Pretest!	167
Organization Matters	168
▀ Research in the News: United Nations Report Highlights Violence Against Women in Families	170
Survey Designs	170
Mailed (Self-Administered) Surveys	171
Group-Administered Surveys	172
Surveys by Telephone	172
In-Person Interviews	173
Electronic Surveys	174
Mixed-Mode Surveys	176
A Comparison of Survey Designs	176
Ethical Issues in Survey Research	178
Protection of Respondents	178
Confidentiality	180
▀ Careers and Research	180
Conclusion	181
Key Terms	182
Highlights	182
Exercises	183
Discussing Research	183
Finding Research on the Web	183
Critiquing Research	183
Making Research Ethical	183
Developing a Research Proposal	184
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	184
CHAPTER 8 • Qualitative Methods and Data Analysis	186
What Do We Mean by Qualitative Methods?	186
Fundamentals of Qualitative Methods	186
Origins of Qualitative Research	188
▀ Case Study: Life in a Gang	190
Participant Observation	191
Choosing a Role	191
▀ Case Study: The "Researcher as a Hooligan"	195
Entering the Field	195
Developing and Maintaining Relationships	196
Sampling People and Events	197

Taking Notes	198
Managing the Personal Dimensions	199
Systematic Observation	199
▪ Case Study: Systematic Observation in Chicago Neighborhoods	200
Intensive Interviewing	202
Establishing and Maintaining a Partnership	203
Asking Questions and Recording Answers	204
▪ Case Study: Barriers to Reentry for Older Offenders	205
Combining Participant Observation and Intensive Interviewing	205
Focus Groups	206
▪ Case Study: An Analysis of Police Searches	207
Analyzing Qualitative Data	207
Qualitative Data Analysis as an Art	208
Qualitative Compared With Quantitative Data Analysis	208
Techniques of Qualitative Data Analysis	209
Documentation	209
Making Sense of It: Conceptualization, Coding, and Categorizing	210
Examining Relationships and Displaying Data	210
Corroboration and Authenticating Conclusions	211
Reflexivity	212
Alternatives in Qualitative Data Analysis	213
Grounded Theory	213
Computer-Assisted Qualitative Data Analysis	215
▪ Case Study: Narratives of Desistance From Crime and Substance Abuse	215
Ethical Issues in Qualitative Research	218
Voluntary Participation	219
Subject Well-Being	220
Identity Disclosure	220
Confidentiality	220
Appropriate Boundaries	221
Researcher Safety	221
▪ Research in the News: Reporters Engage in Observation in Honduran Gang Territory	222
Who Owns the Qualitative Data?	222
▪ Careers and Research	223
Conclusion	223
Key Terms	224
Highlights	224
Exercises	224
Discussing Research	224
Finding Research on the Web	225
Critiquing Research	225
Making Research Ethical	225
Developing a Research Proposal	226
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	226

CHAPTER 9 • Analyzing Content and Police Data: Social-Network Analysis, Crime Mapping, Big Data, and Content Analysis	228
What Do We Have in Mind?	228
Analyzing Secondary Data	229
Social-Network Analysis	230
► Case Study: Networks of Terrorist Cells	231
► Case Study: Finding a Serial Killer	234
Crime Mapping	236
► Case Study: Predicting Break and Entries (BNEs)	238
Big Data	238
► Research in the News: Predictive Policing in Los Angeles	239
► Case Study: Predicting Where Crime Will Occur	241
► Case Study: Predicting Recidivism With Big Data	242
Ethical Issues in Using Big Data	243
Content Analysis	244
Identifying a Population of Documents or Other Textual Sources	244
Determine the Units of Analysis	244
Developing Reliable and Valid Coding Procedures Is Not an Easy Task	245
Base Statistical Analyses on Counting Occurrences of Particular Items	245
► Case Study: Media Portrayals of Abducted Children	246
Methodological Issues When Using Secondary Data	247
Ethical Issues When Analyzing Available Data and Content	247
► Careers and Research	248
Conclusion	249
Key Terms	249
Highlights	249
Exercises	250
Discussing Research	250
Finding Research on the Web	250
Critiquing Research	251
Making Research Ethical	251
Developing a Research Proposal	251
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	251
CHAPTER 10 • Evaluation and Policy Analysis	254
What Do We Have in Mind?	254
A Brief History of Evaluation Research	254
Evaluation Basics	255
Questions for Evaluation Research	256
Do We Need the Program?	257
Can the Program Be Evaluated?	257
Is the Program Working as Planned?	257
► Case Study: Process Evaluation of an Antigang Initiative	258

Did the Program Work?	259
▪ Case Study: The Risk Skills Training Program (RSTP) Compared With Drug Abuse Resistance Education-Abbreviated (DARE-A)	261
Is the Program Worth It?	261
▪ Case Study: Cost–Benefit Analysis of CCTV Monitoring and Direct Police Patrol	263
Design Decisions	263
Black-Box Evaluation or Program Theory	263
Researcher or Stakeholder Orientation	264
Evaluation in Action	265
▪ Case Study: Problem-Oriented Policing in Violent Crime Areas—A Randomized Controlled Experiment	265
Strengths of Randomized Experimental Designs in Impact Evaluations	267
▪ Research in the News: Many U.S. Jails Fail to Stop Inmate Suicides	267
When Experiments Are Not Feasible	268
▪ Case Study: Nonequivalent Control Group Design: Decreasing Injuries From Police Use of Force	268
Qualitative and Quantitative Methods	269
Increasing Demand for Evidence-Based Policy	270
Ethics in Evaluation	271
▪ Careers and Research	272
Conclusion	272
Key Terms	273
Highlights	273
Exercises	273
Discussing Research	273
Finding Research on the Web	273
Critiquing Research	274
Making Research Ethical	274
Developing a Research Proposal	274
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	275

CHAPTER 11 • Mixing and Comparing Methods 277

What Do We Have in Mind?	277
What Are Mixed Methods?	278
Should Methods Be Mixed?	278
Types of Mixed-Methods Designs	279
▪ Case Study: Convergent Parallel Design: School Security and Discipline	281
▪ Case Study: Exploratory Sequential Design: American Indian Homicide	282
▪ Case Study: Embedded Design: Investigating Rape	284
Strengths and Limitations of Mixed Methods	285
▪ Research in the News: Lacking Data on Gun Violence	286
Comparing Results Across Studies	287

Meta-Analysis	287
▶ Case Study: Meta-Analysis: The Effectiveness of Antibullying Programs	288
Meta-Synthesis	289
▶ Case Study: Meta-Synthesis: Female Drug Dealers	289
Ethics and Mixed Methods	290
▶ Careers and Research	291
Conclusion	292
Key Terms	292
Highlights	292
Exercises	293
Discussing Research	293
Finding Research on the Web	293
Critiquing Research	293
Making Research Ethical	294
Developing a Research Proposal	294
Performing Data Analysis in SPSS or Excel	294

CHAPTER 12 • Summarizing and Reporting Research 296

What Do We Have in Mind?	296
Research Report Goals	296
Advance Scientific Knowledge	297
Shape Social Policy	297
Organize Social Action—Participatory Action Research	297
▶ Case Study: Seeking Higher Education for Inmates	298
Dialogue With Research Subjects	299
Types of Research Reports	299
Student Papers and Theses	300
Journal Articles	300
Applied Reports	302
Curbing the Frustrations of Writing	302
Displaying Data	303
Special Considerations for Reporting Quantitative and Qualitative Research	306
▶ Research in the News: Criminalizing Fraud Related to the OxyContin Crisis	307
Ethics, Politics, and Reporting Research	308
Communicating With the Public	309
Plagiarism	309
▶ Careers and Research	311
Conclusion	311
