

Contents

List of abbreviations	vii
Series preface	viii
Preface	x
1	Police accountability in the 21st century: new wine, new bottles?	1
	Structure of the book	4
2	Principles and purposes of accountability	11
	The centrality of discretion to policing	13
	Models of accountability	14
	The fuzzy boundaries of operational independence	17
	Policing beyond the nation state	22
3	Governance and politics of policing	29
	Policing and the complexities of governance	30
	National accountability and governance	33
	Local accountability and governance	36
	National policing in Scotland	39
	Police reform and community engagement in Northern Ireland	40
	Networked policing, accountability and governance	41
	Conclusion	44
4	Complaints and discipline	47
	The challenge of investigating police misdemeanours	48
	Police complaints in England and Wales	49
	Civil claims against police	53
	Redressing complaints in the wider policing environment	58
	Conclusion	62
5	Science, evidence and police accountability in the age of big data	65
	Evidence-based policing, professionalisation and police accountability	65
	Algorithms, big data and 'machine policing'	71
	Recognising the social and organisational context of EBP and big data policing	80
	Conclusion	81

6	Internal management and leadership	85
	Discipline and police behaviour	86
	Ethical policing	91
	Management as micro-governance	96
	Conclusion	100
7	Transparency and the external gaze	103
	A picture is worth a thousand words?	105
	The power of an image: recognising the importance of context	108
	The importance of the audience	114
	Conclusion	117
8	Police accountability and the problem of the public	119
	The ethics of policing	120
	Changing structures of accountability	121
	The problem of public consent?	125
	Necessary but unstable: public accountability and police futures	134
	References	137
	Index	155