List of Illustrations ix
Foreword: Manipulating Music—a Perspective of Practicing Composers x
Preface xii
Acknowledgments xviii
List of Contributors xx

Introduction: "How Does Music Work?" Toward a Pragmatics of Musical Communication
Steven Brown 1

MANIPULATION BY MUSIC

Part I  Music Events
1. Ritual and Ritualization: Musical Means of Conveying and Shaping Emotion in Humans and Other Animals
Ellen Dissanayake 31
2. Music, Identity, and Social Control
Peter J. Martin 57
Ulrik Volgsten 74

Part II  Background Music
4. Music in Business Environments
Adrian C. North and David J. Hargreaves 103
5. The Social Uses of Background Music for Personal Enhancement
Steven Brown and Töres Theorell 126
Part III Audiovisual Media

6. Music, Moving Images, Semiotics, and the Democratic Right to Know
   Philip Tagg

7. Music Video and Genre: Structure, Context, and Commerce
   Rob Strachan

8. The Effectiveness of Music in Television Commercials:
   A. Comparison of Theoretical Approaches
   Claudia Bullerjahn

MANIPULATION OF MUSIC

Part IV Governmental/Industrial Control

9. Music Censorship from Plato to the Present
   Marie Korpe, Ole Reitov, and Martin Cloonan

10. Orpheus in Hell: Music in the Holocaust
    Joseph L. Moreno

11. The Changing Structure of the Music Industry: "Threats to and Opportunities for Creativity
    Roger Wallis

Part V Control by Reuse

12. Music and Reuse: Theoretical and Historical Considerations
    Ola Stockfelt

13. Copyright, Music, and Morals: Artistic Expression and the Public Sphere
    Ulrik Volgsten and Yngve Akerberg

Aesth/ethic Epilogue: Is Mozart's Music Good?
    Steven Brown and Ulrik Volgsten

Index