Contents

Chronology xiii

1 Understanding Popular Culture lit Oiima 1

Historical Orientation 3
  Opium 3
  Revolutions 5
  May 4, 1919 7
  The Chinese Communist Party 8
  The Cultural Revolution 11
  The Open-Door Policy and Economic Reform 13
  Tiananmen Square 1989 16
  The ROC, the PRC, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and Macau 19
  Chinese Language Issues 21
  What Is Popular Culture? 28
  Scope and Limitations of This Book 32
  References and Further Reading 33

2 Mass Media im Citima S5

Government, Communication, and the Media: Basic Principles 35
  The Party Principle 35
  Media Ownership 37
  Censorship and Self-censorship 37
  Pushing the Limits 39
  Foreign Media, Chinese Media, and the WTO 40
  Media, the Party, and Control 41
  References and Further Reading 42

3 Television 43

The Development of Chinese Television: An Overview 46
  The Early Years 46
  The 1980s: Television Revolution 46
  The 1990s: Technological Revolutions 48
Television as an Object of Consumption  50
Stations, Networks, and Channels  53
   Terrestrial Television  54
   Satellite Television  55
   Cable Television  56
   Television Networks, National Identity, and Popular Culture  57
Television Programs  60
   Dramas  60
   News  64
   Entertainment Programs  66
   Popular Movies, Documentaries, and Children's Television  67
Television Audiences and Popular Culture  71
   Changing Television Audiences  71
   Ways of Watching  73
   Discourses of Television  75
The Future of Chinese Television  78
A to Z  80
References and Further Reading  85

4 Radio  87
   Radio and Television: Similarities and Differences  88
   Historical Background  90
   Commercialization and Cross-Media Competition  93
      Radio Commercialization and the Broadcasting Divide  95
   Radio Stations  96
      Central People's Broadcasting Station  96
      Provincial-, Municipal-, and Local-Level Stations  97
      Shanghai Oriental Radio  98
   Programs  99
      Radio Programming in the Mao Period  99
      Post-Mao Programming  100
      Channel Specialization  102
   Radio Audiences  102
   The Future of Radio  104
A to Z  105
References and Further Reading  108

5 Newspapers  109
   Historical Background: The Mao Era and Before  111
   Newspapers in the Post-Mao Reform Period  114
   Types of Newspapers  117
      Party Organ and Non-Party Organ Newspapers  117
Categories of Newspapers 119
Newspaper Differences 121
Newspapers, Government Control, and Censorship 123
Typical Content of a Daily Newspaper 126
  General Features of a Daily Newspaper 126
  Example: The Guangzhou Daily 127
Newspaper Reading as Changing Cultural Practice 129
Newspapers and Consumer Culture 131
Newspapers and the Internet 132
The Future of Newspapers in China 134
AtoZ 135
References and Further Reading 138

6 Magazines 139

Historical Overview 141
Kinds of Magazines 142
  Party Magazines 143
  Commercial Magazines 144
  Professional or Occupational Magazines 145
  Intellectual Magazines 146
  Other Special-Interest Magazines 146
  Foreign Magazines 146
  Illegal Magazines 148
Magazine Reading and Popular Culture 148
Commercialism, Advertising, and China's
  New Social Classes 149
Conclusion: Magazines and Popular Culture 151
AtoZ 152
References and Further Reading 154

7 Cinema, Film, and Vide © 155

Chinese Cinema to 1949: An Overview 158
PRC Cinema under Mao: Socialist Realism and Propaganda Films 165
Post-Mao Cinema and the "Fifth Generation" 168
The Sixth Generation and Beyond 175
Moviegoing Audiences Past and Present 181
Cinema Reform, the Market, and the Future of Chinese Cinema 185
AtoZ 186
References and Further Reading 190
8  Internet and Telecommunications 193
   The Growth and Organization of the Internet in China 195
   Who Uses the Internet?  198
   What Is the Internet Used For?  199
   Government Control  201
   News and the Internet  204
   Portals and Online Gaming  206
   E-mail, Instant Messaging, and Popular Culture  210
   Chinese Culture Online  211
   The Future of the Internet and Popular Culture in China  213
   China's Telecommunications Revolution and the "Digital Divide"  214
   The Cultural Significance of Telephones and Telecommunications  216
   SMS, MMS, and 3G  218
   AtoZ  221
   References and Further Reading  224

9  Consumption in China 225
   References and Further Reading  232

10 Leisure Time, Space, and Consumption 235
   Leisure, Consumption, and Social Space  236
   Leisure Activities  239
      The 1980s  240
      The 1990s  241
      The 2000s  244
   Leisure, Sociality, and Popular Culture  245
   Food and Popular Culture  247
   Consuming the Foreign  256
   Conclusion  258
   AtoZ  260
   References and Further Reading  263

11 Sports and Martial Arts 265
   Chinese Sports in Historical Context  266
   Chinese Sports in Global Context  270
   National Favorites  274
   The Beijing 2008 Olympics  277
   Sports in Society  278
   Martial Arts and Sports  282
Martial Arts and Health  284
Martial Arts and Popular Culture  285
Conclusion  289
AtoZ  290
References and Further Reading  293

12  Xltheatre ax&d Music: Setting ttle Scene  295
References and Further Reading  299

18  Xketheatre and ^Performance  301

Traditional Theatre  303
   Historical Background  303
Common Features of Traditional Chinese Theatres  307
   Role Types  307
   Actions and Movements  307
   Musical Instruments  308
   Scenery and Costumes  309
   Performance Contexts  309
Two Contrasting Examples: Beijing Opera and Cantonese Opera  311
Spoken Drama  316
The Revolutionary Stage  320
Experimental Theatre of the 1980s and 1990s  322
Theatre, Popular Culture, Politics, and Audiences  326
AtoZ  327
References and Further Reading  332

14  Popular Music  335

Kinds of Popular Music in Contemporary China  337
   Folk Songs and Folk Music  337
   Revolutionary Songs  338
   Classical Chinese Music  339
   Western Classical Music  341
Gangtai and Mainland Chinese Pop Music  342
Chinese Rock Music  345
Chinese Pop and Rock Lyrics  348
Recent Trends: Technology and Diversification  350
Situating Popular Music  353
Popular Music and Popular Culture: History, Technology, and Identity  355
AtoZ  357
References and Further Reading  359
15 Afterword: Looking to the Future of Chinese Popular Culture 361

References and Further Reading 365

Index 367

About the Author 385