Acknowledgments  ix
Introduction: The Politics of Aesthetic Pleasure in Holocaust Representation 1

1. AESTHETIC SURVIVAL
   Paul Celan, Charlotte Delbo, and "Living Next to Auschwitz" 18

2. AESTHETIC MEMORY
   Jorge Semprun and "The Bitter Residue of Death" 52

3. AESTHETIC ALLUSION
   Edmond Jabès, "The Page Is a Charred Field Where the Dead Would Have Written" 78

4. AESTHETIC MOURNING
   Anselm Kiefer, Christian Boltanski, and "Light Pulsing through Ash" 106

5. AESTHETIC POLLUTION
   Peter Eisenman, Jochen Gerz and Esther Shalev-Gerz, James Ingo Freed, and "Nazi Contamination" 150

Notes 173
Index 207

Plates follow page 114