Contents

Acknowledgments i x

Introduction: Rupture and Repair: Marking the Legacy of the Second Generation 1

Part I. The Legacy of Survival

1: "A Tale Repeated Over and Over Again": Polyidentity and Narrative Paralysis in Thane Rosenbaum's Elijah Visible 43

2: "In Auschwitz We Didn't Wear Watches": Marking Time in Art Spiegelman's Maus 66

3: "Because We Need Traces": Robert Schindel's Gebiirigt and the Crisis of the Second-Generation Witness 91

4: Documenting Absence in Patrick Modiano's Dora Bruder and Katja Behrens's "Arthur Mayer, or The Silence" 125

Part II. The Legacy of Perpetration

5: "Under a False Name": Peter Schneider's Vati and the Misnomer of Genre 143

6: My Mother Wears a Hitler Mustache: Marking the Mother in Niklas Frank and Joshua Sobol's Der Vater 174
CONTENTS

7: The Future of VMterliteratur: Bernhard Schlink's Der Vorleser and Uwe Timm's Am Beispiel meines Bruders 199

Conclusion: The "Glass Wall":
Marked by an Invisible Divide 228

Works Cited 233;

Index 247
PPN: 257967729
Bibliographischer Datensatz im SWB-Verbund