
Contents

Preface vii

Introduction: Why Are We So Punitive? 1

Indices of Change 4

Why Are We So Punitive? 7

 The Conservative Philosophy 7

 The Role of Religion 9

 Social and Political Factors 11

We're the Tough Guys 13

Some Concluding Thoughts 14

 Notes 15

1 The Punishment Business 21

The United States versus the World 21

Incarceration in the United States 23

The Impact of Incarceration on Crime 24

Punishment as a Market for Capitalism 26

Expenditures on the Criminal Justice System 29

The Drug War 30

Some Concluding Thoughts 32

 Notes 33

2 The Prison Incarceration Boom: Bursting at the Seams 37

A Boom in Prison Construction 37

 Gulags American Style 39

 The Texas, Michigan, and California Gulags 39

Rural Prisons: Uplifting Rural Economies? 41

 Exploiting Prisoners to Enhance Rural Populations:

 Prisoners of the Census 43

iv Contents

The Privatization of Prisons: Profits for Private Industry	47
Some Concluding Thoughts	51
Notes	52
3 Jails: Temporary Housing for the Poor	57
Getting In and Out of Jail: It's Not like Monopoly	57
The Historical Context	58
Pretrial Detention and Bail	60
Freedom for Sale: The Bail Bondsman	62
Locking Up the "Dangerous": Preventive Detention	63
Some Effects of Awaiting Trial in Jail	64
Who Is in Jail?	65
The Functions of Jails: Managing the "Rabble" Class	70
Some Concluding Thoughts	72
Notes	72
4 Slavery in the Third Millennium	77
Seeking Cheap Labor and Control of African Americans	78
Prisons and Convict Leasing Help Perpetuate Slavery	80
Slavery Revisited: The Return of the Chain Gang	82
The Face of Crime	84
Uneven Justice	85
Funneling Minorities into Prison via the Drug War	87
The Internal Exile of African Americans and the New American Apartheid	92
More Evidence of Slavery in the New Millennium: Disenfranchisement	94
Some Concluding Thoughts	96
Notes	96
5 Legalized Homicide: The Death Penalty in America	103
The Origins of the Death Penalty	104
Lynching: Forerunner to the Death Chamber	107
The Death Penalty Today	111
The Race Factor	113
McCleskey v. Kemp	114
Wrongful Convictions	118
International Comparisons	120
Deterrence	120

	Juveniles and the Death Penalty	120
	The Case of Roper v. Simmons	122
	Some Concluding Thoughts	124
	Notes	125
6	Punishing Women	131
	A Brief History of Women's Prisons	133
	Custody versus Reform	135
	Differential Treatment of Black Women	137
	Women in Today's Prisons	137
	The Social Context	140
	The Growing Incarceration of Black Women	141
	The War on Drugs and Women	143
	Draconian Drug Laws	143
	An Outrageous Example: The "Pregnancy Police"	145
	Characteristics of Women in Prison	150
	The Pathways Perspective	153
	The "Concrete Womb"	153
	Some Concluding Thoughts	155
	Notes	156
7	Punishing Kids	163
	Houses of Refuge	163
	Court Decisions and Effects	166
	Ex Parte Crouse	166
	The O'Connell Case	168
	Gault and Kent : Challenges to the
	Punitive Nature of Juvenile Justice	168
	Unreasonable Searches and Seizures	169
	Punishing Youths: Abuses and Scandals Today	173
	Reception and Diagnostic Centers	174
	Detention Centers	175
	Juveniles in Custody	176
	Some Effects of Incarceration:
	The Inmate Social System and Victimization	181
	High Recidivism Rates Plague Juvenile Prisons	182
	Promising Alternatives to Punishing Children	183
	Some Concluding Thoughts	186
	Notes	187
8	Parole: Punishment without Walls	193
	Origins of Parole	193
	Granting Parole	196
	Being on Parole	199

Is the Parole System Set up to Fail? 202
The Cost of Failure 204
Barriers to Parole Success 207
 The Impact of Coercive Mobility on Controls 208
 Denial of Public Housing 209
 Denial of Other Federal Benefits 210
Programs for Successful Reentry 211
 Delancey Street Foundation 211
 America Works, Inc.—Criminal Justice Program 213
 Project RIO 213
 Pioneer Human Services 214
 The Safer Foundation 214
Some Concluding Thoughts 215
Notes 216

9 Is There a Better Way?

221

Addressing the Problem of Social Inequality 221
Ending the War on Drugs 223
Expanding Diversion Programs,
 Avoiding Net Widening 227
 A Model Program: The Detention
 Diversion Advocacy Project 229
Gender-Responsive Strategies for Female Offenders 229
Broad-Based National Strategies to Reduce Crime 231
We Need a New Paradigm 234
Some Concluding Thoughts 240
Notes 240

Index 245